CONSOLIDATION

Meetings in Glendale and Tropico — Communications from Messrs. Wattles and Watson

Odd Fellows hall was crowded Thursday evening of last week with an audience gathered to hear the subject of consolidation discussed, the meeting being held under the auspices of the Improvement Association. Mr. J. W. Usilton, president of the association, called the meeting to order and Mr. Norman Evans treated the audience to one of his enjoyable piano solos. Mr. Emil Fram of Tropico made a clear statement in regard to a new charter and particularly with reference to the referendum, initiative and recall, which are now being generally embodied in the charters adopted by the most progressive municipalities. Mr. J. C. Sherer followed in a half hour's argument in favor of consolidation. He devoted his time to a discussion of such features of the question as roads, streets, water, storm water and taxes. He pointer out the fact that the recently enacted law providing for the formation of country districts for public improvements has in no case been put into practical effect so that its working effectiveness is problematical. It is formed on lines similar to the Wright irrigation law of unhappy memory, which with the best of intentions, really drove home makers into bankruptcy. He regarded the storm water question one of the greatest importance, every portion of the valley is subject more or less to its menace and to have the "wash" under the jurisdiction of the enlarged city of Glendale, is the only practical solution of the problem. The city would then have to bear a certain measure of responsibility and without incurring any heavy expense could have it patrolled and watched in time of storm. The putting in of anything like permanent work there for the protection of the valley is not necessary and might not be effectual when done, much can be done however when done with judgment at the right time. He alluded to the county and city consolidation campaign being waged in Los Angeles and pointed out the impossibility of that being brought about without a constitutional amendment, something which will take about three years to bring to pass. He ridiculed the idea that Glendale, Tropico and vicinity are in danger of losing their vested rights in the water of Verdugo Canyon through any action by the city of Los Angeles, as there is no decision in existence giving that city the right to deprive an individual or a community of the water required for domestic use. Mr. Sherer spoke of the roads being built by the highway commission out of the $2,500,000 bond issue, one of which comes through Glendale and Tropico by way of Eagle Rock from Pasadena and another that comes through via La Canyada and Verdugo Canyon. These roads will bring here an influx of sightseers, particularly the people who have automobiles, a class of people whom we are anxious to attract to our locality. Should consolidation not take place there will be in the future as there is now, a striking contract between the roads within the city and without, and the outside communities will not profit by it. The increase in taxes for the territory now outside the limits of Glendale but to be brought into the city, would be the difference between the Glendale city rate, now $1.13 and the county road tax of 60 cents, amounting to 53 cents per $100 of valuation. The present taxation for school purposes is about $1.30 (the special tax added to about one-third of the county tax of 90 cents) why not economize in school affairs by uniting the three districts as will be done by consolidation.

Judge Herald of Los Angeles was the next speaker and entertained the audience for about an hour.

He dwelt upon the necessity for "Planting the city right." There is a chance here to build up one of the finest cities in the state and in a place where nature has done so much the people should work together and do everything possible for themselves. The formation of the Greater Glendale will be the greatest advertisement for this whole section that can be conceived. It is not only ideal for homes but has special advantages for manufacturing establishments which will be sure to come. Get a charter and work under it, a chartered city cannot be "annexed." Judge Herald told a number of anecdotes and kept the audience in a good humor throughout.

Rev. Henry was the next speaker and it is unnecessary to say that the reverend gentleman's remarks were of the usual sunshiny kind which always characterizes him. He is an enthusiastic "booster" for a united community.

The chairman at this point called upon Assemblyman Henry Lyons of Los Angeles, who spoke briefly. He alluded to school days spent at Tropico and paid the usual compliments.

The chairman then announced that Colonel Thornton would be the next speaker, as that well-known leader of the opposition accompanied by a number of friends from the Casa Verdugo section was present. He added, however, that all speakers would be limited to five minutes, a proposition which Col. Thornton protested against as unfair. The chairman then stated that it was his intention not to limit Col. Tobraton to five minutes, but the speakers who were to follow, and proceeded to warn all speakers to avoid personalities and stick to facts. The chairman's language was unfortunately not well chosen and Col. Thornton and some of his friends left the hall protesting against the "unfairness" of the meeting.

The feeling among a few partisans in the rear of the hall was expressed in unparliamentary language, during the minute or two that elapsed before the Casa Verdugo people left the hall one lady called somebody a "lot of cowards," for which Col. Thornton apologized. General regret was expressed by the consolidationists that offense had been given to the Colonel and his friends and the effect was to give to that gentleman when he spoke in the same hall Wednesday evening a large audience. After the above incident, Mr. Wattles replied to certain statements made by Mr. Davis of Tropico in a newspaper article and the meeting adjourned.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION MEETING AT TROPICO.

The announcement that the Civic League was to hold a "Wide-Open" meeting at Logan's hall, Tuesday evening last, brought out a good audience. In the absence of Chairman Hibbard, Vice President Fram presided. Mr. Wattles opened the discussion of the consolidation in his usual able manner, replying to the articles published last week by Messrs. Carmack and Davis. Mr. Rittenhouse followed. He has fears about the sewer question, thinks there will be a sewer farm established at Tropico. Mr. Wattles endeavored to relieve his mind in regard to this menace, but Mr. Rittenhouse was still harassed with doubts.

Mr. Stanton spoke in regard to Glendale's electric lighting system, expressing doubt as to its being a paying concern, Mr. Watson making a reply that would to the most of the audience be considered satisfactory. Mr. Carmack came back at Mr. Wattles; his published article did not clearly set forth his ideas, the editor being at fault. He could not give figures when called upon to do so.

Mr. Fram took the floor and gave a resume of some of the "arguments" propounded by the antis, ridiculing some of them very effectually. The meeting passed off very pleasantly showing that the warring factions can still meet together without breaking the peace. The next meeting of the league will be held at G. A. R. hall on the evening of the 27th.

In his first article, Mr. Croswell states "When all this agitation for a Greater Glendale is over, there should be nothing but the best of feeling on all sides, and there may be provided all parties to the discussion play fair. After the last word has been said there should be no bitterness left, for the ultimate destinies of this beautiful valley are in common, however much some of us may now honestly differ."

I most heartily agree with this, and if all the people concerned in this matter were as fair as Mr. Croswell the annexation would become a love feast, whichever way the vote turned. He has fairly presented his side of the question in the matter of the road district improvement act, and I have endeavored to do likewise.

After all that has been said on the matter, the fact still remains that, as no court decisions have been given, and no practical demonstrations of the feasibility of the act are in evidence, the benefits to be derived from the road district act are merely a matter of opinion.

An examination of the act discloses too many contradictions and unsubstantial phrases to make it worthy of any weighty consideration.

It has been shown in many cases that the various schemes for improvements by district methods, under county government, are impracticable except under the most favorable conditions.

Our opinions as to the exact meaning of the word "started," as applied to the district improvements, differ. The fact that a petition calling for the formation of a district is in process of preparation, or even that it is in the hands of the supervisors is not, to my mind, a legal "starting." The matter is not launched until the first publication is made, and when I wrote my answer to Mr. Croswell only one of those road district propositions had been so treated, in this county. I am not responsible for the lack of information displayed concerning the proposed boundaries. In fact, I have endeavored, by making and publishing maps, and by verbal explanation, to give every one possible a correct idea of the lines.

The work of establishing the boundaries was divided into districts, members of the committee were assigned to some particular district, and had practically nothing to do with any other part of the territory.

I seems to be a waste of time and valuable newspaper space to further discuss the majority of the questions published, as far as annexation is concerned, for all the statements have been answered and re-answered. We are prone to wander from the subject, under such conditions, and it is an expenditure of energy that should be conserved.

Wm. C. WATTLES.

Editor of GLENDALE NEWS:

I was surprised, to say the least, to read the reasons set forth by Mr. Cushing in his article which appeared in the GLENDALE NEWS of Dec. 9, which cause him to oppose annexation. Each one has been discussed time and again, so often and thoroughly that it seems almost a waste of time to give it more attention.

First: He says "Glendale is not in a position to meet the water question," that "Los Angeles has absolute control of it," he doubts the supply of water from Verdugo canyon," etc. If he had read the decisions in regard to the water question he would know that they referred to development and pumping for irrigation only and did not affect water for domestic use, and Los Angeles could not prevent it if she so wished.

What has been said in regard to the water question has been along the lines of a municipal distributing system to be supplied from Owens river water or from Verdugo canyon if it should prove to be more to the advantage of Glendale.

Second: "We do not need to be annexed to Glendale to have our streets lighted; we have the lighting district act and we do not care for electric lights in our houses as we find gas cheaper and better." The "lighting district act" was attempted here; in fact, a district formed, and it was found that the cost, owing to conditions here would be a tax of about $1.25 per hundred dollars valuation. In the East Hollywood district the amount raised in 1909 was $6000 at a rate of 64c per $100 valuation. The rate for 1910 in the four districts of the county are as follows: Norwalk, 62c; Sherman, 84c; Downey, 58c; Manhattan, 68c. The above rates are for maintenance only, and does not include installation. Hollywood figures were for installing and maintaining for the first year. As for gas being better and cheaper for house lighting, that is a matter of personal opinion. The majority of people in these days prefer the more convenient electric light, although I admit some people may prefer the old-time tallow candles.

Third: "Those desiring street improvements can have them under the "county road improvement act."

This question has been so fully discussed that it is unnecessary to make any further comments upon it.

Fourth: "All hope of a five-cent car fare from Los Angeles would be destroyed."

Why is it that a five-cent fare has not been given to places already annexed to Los Angeles? And why has not a five-cent fare been given as far as San Fernando road?

Fifth: "When a sewer system is installed, the septic tank would be in Tropico, that being the natural location."

The sewer and septic tank system is a question for the future and will be dealt with when the time comes. Mr. Cushing's fears are in line with the story told by Judge Herald of the pessimistic old maid of three-score and ten years, who was found crying because she was thinking how badly she would feel if she was to get married and have a baby and it should crawl into the oven and get baked.

He closes by saying he "don't want to be annexed to anything. That Los Angeles has more to offer than Glendale; that he knew Garvanza as a place far inferior to Tropico of today and attributes the growth of Garvanza to its annexation to Los Angeles."

The prosperity of Garvanza is due to several causes:

First: A good climate, high and dry; lying between two large cities connected by splendid railroad facilities. And last but not least, it is composed of progressive and up-to-date citizens who work as a unit for the betterment of the town. Garvanza has the strongest and best organized improvement association in the county, ready at all times to take hold of anything that tends to the advantage of the community. In Garvanza an "Arkansaw Traveler" would have a hard time to find a settler who could not mend a hole in his roof because it was raining and did not mend it in dry weather because it didn't leak then.

The whole trend of Mr. Cushing's argument is that he does not want to annex to Glendale or make any change whatever and the reasons given are but straws at which he grasps.

A MARTIAL LAY. NUMBER ONE.

"Hisses Start Bitter War. Valley Beyond Glendale Scene of Strife."

(L. A. Paper)

Have you heard the tale of that dread night,
When moved by the spirit no fear can quell,
Eager to die in the cause of right—
Or else to live and the story tell;
(The latter would answer quite as well.)

The cohorts came down from the southern slope
That bends to the beautiful valley's rim,
Came high in the flush of their fondest hope,
With faith in their leader and followed him?

Have you heard the story?
You haven't—well—
Lend me an ear or two
While I tell.

Rumors there were of a wicked band
Filled with the lust of greed and power,
Casting envious eyes on this favored land
And plotting to gobble it every hour!

But there are brave women and lusty men
Close by the banks of the classic wash,
An' 'twill be an awfully cold day when
You catch 'em asleep—it will, b'gosh!

Roused by the tocsin and woke by the drum
They sprang to arms at their Colonel's call,
Armed to the teeth and with aspect glum
They crossed the wash and raided the hall.

They passed the sentry, mounted the stair,
Close at the heels of the leader true,
Bravest of men, of dames most fair,
Ready to die—but preferring to do.

But they didn't do it; the angel of Peace
Was perched on the door as they passed through,
The Dogs of War were held in leash
And a flag of truce was floating too.

The Pipe of Peace was passing 'round
And orators with voice intense
Were making the atmosphere resound
With rich outbursts of eloquence.

The invading forces caught the spell
They heard no more the wars alarms;
They listened and they argued well,
"Why we ourselves have power that charms."

"Our doughty leader hath a voice
Which ne'er was put to better use,
If ours it be to make the choice,
We'll stack our arms and turn him loose."

They turned him loose (may his tribe increase,
So war may never vex us more),
But at that moment the Dove of Peace
Flew from its perch and left by the door!

And where it has flown no man can tell,
Unknown at present its habitat,
For War is on and war is—well,
It's not a thing to be sneezing at!

For hair must fly and hairpins too,
It's mind your eye or I'll do you,
And I give you timely warning—
For it's just to punch that Glendale punch
All thought of danger scorning.

Lighting Plant Transfers Interest Money

In accordance with instructions of the Board of Trustees, there was transferred Thursday, $1222.44 from the electric light operating fund to the electric light interest fund to meet the semi-annual interest due January 1, 1911. This money, as well as all money used to pay the expenses of operation and maintenance, was derived from the ordinary operating receipts. The plant is entirely self sustaining in every way, and will never have the slightest difficulty in meeting all charges.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

The lot on the northeast corner of Fourth and Isabel streets on which the Episcopal church stands, has been sold to Mr. J. H. Wells. It is understood that the price paid was at least $3000. It is one of the best corners in town for business purposes, as Fourth street is rapidly coming to the front as the commercial center of Glendale. It is not known what disposition will be made of the church, but it is altogether probable that it will be removed to the lots belonging to the parish on the corner of Third and Jackson, where the Guild hall stands. Church officials inform us that no plans have been made in regard to this.

On the corner of Viola and Stocker streets Mr. Wilbur Lusk is erecting a Swiss bungalow which will cost about $2000.

Paul V. Tuttle has drawn plans for a two-story brick building 25x55 feet, to be erected on Fourth street near Brand boulevard for Dr. L. N. Rudy. It will contain two stores on the first floor and three office rooms and a studio 25x30 feet on the second floor. Concrete foundation, cement store floor, plate glass windows, pressed brick front. The owner, with offices on Brand boulevard, near Fourth street, is taking bids for the erection of this building.

Bungalow—F. W. Browning, owner; Paul V. Tuttle, designer, K street between First and Second streets; $2113.50.

Bungalow—Haywood C. Stallard, owner; Roy L. Kent, designer; Chas. W. Kent & Son, contractors, 5-room frame bungalow, Glendale Mountain View tract (Woollacott avenue near Central avenue); 1750.

WORTH-WHILE CLUB.

The Worth-While Club turned out in full force on December 6th at the home of Miss Monica Smith on Maryland avenue.

It was decided that the club should not only pursue philanthropic lines but should take up the study of poets and operas during the coming winter and it was also decided to hold a New Year's Eve watch party at the home of Miss Miriam Harrison on Kenwood street.

After the close of the business meeting a short musical program followed consisting of two thoroughly enjoyable piano duets by Miss Cecilia Wilson and Miss Edna Porter, and two delightful vocal solos by Miss Vera McKey, who was accompanied by her sister, Miss Belle McKey.

Five visitors were present, all of whom are contemplating joining the society; they were, Miss Angeline Zerr, Miss Jennie Bright, Miss Vera McKey, and the Misses Robb.

The Worth-While Club will have as a leading feature a fancy work booth at the coming bazaar to be held by the Presbyterian church December 16, in the Methodist Primary rooms.

The Worth-While Club will next meet at the home of Miss Zada Sprinkle, December 19, when the quilt for the Children's Home in Los Angeles will be finished.

COL. THORNTON'S SPEECH.

A crowd that filled Odd Fellows' hall heard Col. Tom Thornton discuss annexation Wednesday evening. He entertained his audience for nearly two hours. The discourse was not calculated to change anyone's opinion on the subject, but the auditors got the worth of their money (?). That it was a flowery output the editor can testify, for some of the bouquets came his way.

CITY TRUSTEES

In regard to providing incinerators in which to burn papers and similar rubbish, the matter was referred to police and sanitary committee with power to act. A motion passed that there be transferred the sum of $1222.44 from the electric light fund to the electric light bond principal and interest fund; said amount to be used for the semi-annual payment of bond and interest on outstanding electric light bonds. The record was broken by adjournment at 9:10 o'clock.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC SUED.

As mentioned in the NEWS some weeks ago, there is trouble at Casa Verdugo between Mr. and Mrs. Sowl, former leasees of the restaurant there and the Pacific Electric Co., who own the building. The Sowls copyrighted the name "Casa Verdugo" as applied to a restaurant and now that the Pacific Electric have reopened the restaurant after refurnishing it and are running it under the old name. The company is sued for the sum of $10,000 damages. Claim is made in the complaint that the railroad company is not authorized by its charter to run a restaurant business and a permanent injunction is asked for.

Hon. Thomas J. Morris of the U. S. Circuit Court of Maryland, has given a decision to the effect that a state law framed for the express purpose of depriving negroes of the franchise is contrary to the intent of the 15th amendment to the constitution of the United States. He says: "It is the meaning, intention and effect of the law, not the phraseology that makes it important, the intent is to do an act contrary to the law of the land." The case will now go to the Supreme Court and the decision of that body will have a bearing upon all the "grandfather" laws of the Southern states which deprive the negro of the right to vote. The acts in question are skillfully draws to deprive the colored man of the franchise without making any reference to color, being in effect that "No one shall have the right to vote whose grandfather was not entitled to the same right."

The NEWS is indebted to Mr. Wilmot Parcher for two volumes of the works of Hanford Lennox Gordon, for many years a well-known lawyer in Minnesota, and now a resident of Los Angeles. Mr. Gordon throughout a long and busy life found recreation in "dallying with the muse" and the product of these hours is quite a bulky volume of verse, much of which has in it the real poetic fire, clothed in rhythmic words. Mr. Gordon spent much of his life among the Indians of the Northwest, particularly the Dakotahs and considerable of the volume is given over to poems that deal with Indian subjects which are accompanied by many interesting notes regarding their folk lore. The longest poems are in blank verse, but there are numerous shorter ones which show the author's versatility in rhyme.

THE RECALL IN ARIZONA.

The proposed Arizona constitution has in it a recall provision that applies even to the judiciary. This we believe is pushing this feature of the new system of government beyond the limit of its usefulness. To apply the recall to the judiciary is putting the judiciary into politics in a manner that promises to lower the dignity of the bench and impair its usefulness. The judges of our courts should be as far removed as possible from the influences of popular feeling. There should be no incentive in the mind of a judge to pander to popularity nor any shadow of fear to sway him from a position of absolute neutrality. It is his duty to pass such judgment as he believes is warranted by the law and the evidence. Popular opinion is capable of passing no such judgment, for it is constantly reversing itself, and gives its verdict too often without full knowledge. It would be better for the cause of justice if all judges were appointed, not for life, but for a term of years with the understanding that they be reappointed unless some particular cause exist for removing them at the end of the term. One sufficient cause might be a protest signed by a certain proportion of the voters, thus leaving to the people the final decision when a just cause could be established. The danger of the application of the recall to the judiciary can be understood by supposing that a judge is called upon to decide a case between capital and labor in a time of public excitement engendered by one of the frequent cases brought about by a strike, a case of a criminal nature. It is not to be supposed that any one desiring a just decision would wish that a judge at such a time should be influenced by a realization of the fact that upon his decision depended his continuance in office. It remains to be seen whether the voters of Arizona will adopt an organic law that is so revolutionary in its character.

CONSOLIDATION—SOME ROAR-BACKS.

Neither side in the contest over the consolidation question has confined itself any too closely to dignified discussion and individuals regardless of which side they support occasionally "slop over" and mix up facts and fancies. There remains only about three weeks more of the campaign and it is to be hoped that it may be carried on with fairness and good humor. There are not many new arguments to be advanced and voters will do well to give those that have been presented, unbiased consideration. It is worse than useless among an intelligent people to attempt to make a point by misrepresentation. What is to be gained, for instance, by making an assertion that "Glendale is bonded to the limit," when any one desiring to know the facts of the matter can learn by calling up any city official on the telephone, that the bond issue authorized is $65,000, of which only $59,000 has been issued? What can any one hope to gain by attempting to convey by insinuation the impression that the electric lighting department is not a financial success when all the records of that department are open to the public and show that already one month before payment is due, there has been transferred from the operating department to the bond fund for the payments to be made on January 1st the sum of $1222.44? And why should such parties assert that it is the amount paid into the lighting fund for street lighting purposes by the city that alone makes this favorable showing possible, when that sum is only $200 per month out of the total receipts of over $1600?

And what is the further excuse for circulating reports as to immense bond issues to be made for various purposes after consolidation, when it is known that no bond issue can be made without the support of two-thirds of the electors voting? Are a majority of two-thirds of the people incapable of deciding what they want to do?

Gentlemen, put a curb on your frisky imaginations, the output does no credit to your gray matter.

HOW ERRORS GROW—A SAMPLE CASE.

The present campaign for a Greater Glendale has been productive of considerable charge and counter-charge made by more or less excited "pros" or "antis," principally in the heat of debate. There have been many assertions as to "misrepresentations," not to use the shorter word, which if well founded might indicate a spirit of mendacity abroad in our more or less peaceful atmosphere. As a rule it is very doubtful if there has been much willful misrepresentation. There have been mistakes and misunderstandings, but in the most instances the speakers were probably not as well informed as they thought themselves to be, or were misunderstood. A recent instance will go far to illustrate. An account appeared in Saturday morning's Los Angeles Times of the Consolidation meeting held in Odd Fellows hall, Glendale, Thursday evening last. It was written in a jocose vein and was in the main eminently fair, but one error crept into it which shows the fallibility of the ablest reporters. The account said: "Mr. Sherer in his speech said the line had been drawn 200 feet north of the wash. It is in fact from 1750 to 2000 feet north of the wash." The fact is that the speaker quoted did say this, but he qualified it by saying in the same sentence, "From the west line of the Thom ranch near Casa Verdugo eastward to Verdugo road." The portion of the line about which there has been considerable controversy is that part of it west of the point where where Mr. Sherer's description began, so that his statement was absolutely correct, except that it was approximate merely, the line being considerably within the 200 feet. In this case it is probable that the reporter and many others in the audience, not being familiar with the property, failed to locate the part of the proposed line alluded to. It too often happens in such cases as this, that the anxiety to believe the other side in the wrong, leads to a suspension of ordinary judgment and statements incredible on their face, are swallowed without even the proverbial grain of salt.

HUMBUG FOR ARGUMENT. TOO MODEST BY FAR.

The NEWS is inclined to take anything in the shape of an argument against consolidation good naturedly, provided it is an argument, but the kind of a circular that the Antis have been circulating during the past week gives us a "tired feeling." It is annonymous, of course; you could scarcely find anybody who would have the nerve to publish such a thing over his own name. Here is a sample quotation:

"Vote for annexation and vote a mortgage on your homes."

$40,000 for a city hall for Glendale.

$20,000 for a fire house and equipment.

$50,000 for the library and books.

$150,000 for a lighting plant. Mr. Brand will be delighted to have Glendale take over the rest of his plant on the same basis that he sold the first. Are you absolutely sure they are making the present system pay? $1,000,000 for an old inadequate water plant. $100,000 for a sewer system—where will it empty, West Glendale or Tropico, which?" and more similar stuff. Why did the fertile imagination which conjured up the above cease at this incomplete list of things to be done after annexation? Does he (or she) not know that it is proposed to have a portable city hall, rubber tired, forty thousand horse power, hot and cold water, and hot air—the thing to be trundled on alternate nights to different sections of the city, beginning at Casa Verdugo, built with galleries for the populace with upholstered seats, megaphones, ear-trumpets, chewing gum, fine cut tobacco, everything to make life a long sweet dream while you wait and listen to the canned eloquence of trustees who are hereafter to be chosen for their good looks and cunning little ways, and not for the homely virtue of common sense!

We have always maintained that the proponents of consolidation should take the public into their confidence in these matters. Why do they not let the people know that as soon as annexation is a settled fact, every hen house in Greater Glendale will be taxed five dollars and forty cents per hen, every egg sold in the local market or packed for shipment must have the owner's name blown in the shell with date of delivery from the hen? Not only this, but every rooster that lifts his melodious voice and disturbs the slumbers of the newly annexed, must take out a license to do business as an alarm clock and be provided with a self-registering cock-a-doodle-ometer that will inform the city clerk just exactly where he is at. And what about that nefarious scheme for gilding the fire plugs along Fourth street at the expense of the city just to line the pockets of the Gilt trust? And haven't you heard about the new uniform that is to be provided for the city marshal and the dog catcher? It is to be of blue velvet with gold lace trimming, shirred around the edges and scalloped at the bottom with a fringe of blue forget-me-nots with live colored polka dots. Under the new regime dog catching will be raised to the dignity of a profession; one of the chief boosters will be appointed to the position. There will be no salary attached to the job, but his face does not matter. The official will be silent partner in a canning factory ostensibly for the purpose of supplying a hungry world with a patent sausage warranted neither to bark nor sing, but don't you believe it! The NEWS cannot at this time divulge more without breach of confidence and gives this out merely because the whole dreadful conspiracy will be exposed anyhow by the determined efforts of the Sherlock Holmes of the opposition from whom nothing can be concealed.

THE LIGHTING PLANT.

Editor of the NEWS:

Some few people living outside of the corporate limits of Glendale are studiously trying to convey the impression that the lighting plant is not meeting expenses. The falsity of this is shown by the fact that for the first six months of this fiscal year the plant has met all expenses of operation and all bond obligations solely from the revenue derived from operation. The plant is now and always will be absolutely self-supporting, and no one need have the slightest fear of there being a deficiency at any time to be paid from the revenues of the city.

The only expense to which the city is put in connection with the plant is for street lights and these are charged for at the lowest rate that has come to my notice. Practically all of the small cities around Los Angeles are equipped with this same system, and all of them pay from twenty-five to fifty per cent more for street lighting than does Glendale.

The lighting plant is not only now meeting all expenses, but has a constantly increasing revenue, due to the large number of new consumers being added to the lines, and will continue to improve upon its present excellent financial condition.

THE GLENDALE BAND BENEFIT.

The benefit planned for the Glendale Band last Wednesday evening in the moving picture theater was an unqualified success as all special events at the theater are. The house was crowded, every seat being occupied by an audience which was quick to show its appreciation of the many excellent numbers presented.

Several selections were rendered by the orchestra which together with the baritone solo by Mr. C. D. Furst were generously applauded. Small Gertrude Thropp sang "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland," and Helen McMullen sang "Down Where the Big Bananas Grow," both little girls were repeatedly encored.

Special features were provided by Mr. Bush; a young lady reader from Los Angeles of exceptional ability, and Miss Maude D'Alma in several singing specialties.

RURAL SCHOOL IMPROVEMENTS

Value of Making the Building and Grounds Attractive.

INSTILLS A HIGH IDEA OF LIFE

Fosters a Desire to Build Up and Not to Tear Down—Teaches How to Live Cleanly—Suggestions For Beautifying a School Yard.

How an attractive schoolhouse with neat and well kept grounds will tend to benefit any community and its surroundings is aptly described in the Kansas Farmer by F. Lincoln Fields of Burlington, Kan., who says:

"It has been said that new homes may come, old barns must go, but the old schoolhouse will do forever. However, this has not been my observation. My observation has been that the old schoolhouse or the new schoolhouse represents the whole neighborhood in a lump. The old or the new and up to date schoolhouse is characteristic of the whole neighborhood. A look at the schoolhouse tells you in a way how the majority of the people in that certain district live and respect prosperity and up to date living. When you see the old schoolhouse you see few modern, up to date farm homes, and when you see the new schoolhouse you see many modern farmhouses and new barns. Also when community interest is strong and all work together for the good of the neighborhood and school we see better schoolhouses and surroundings.

"While visiting in another county, in driving out into the country, I admired the well kept farm homes we passed by before we reached the schoolhouse, but when we came to the building I saw plainly that the schoolhouse and yard represented the vicinity. The schoolhouse was a beautiful brick structure with (some) modern fixtures, and, best of all, the building was well cared for. Around the school yard was a good fence; also a neat walk leading to the door. While there were no flowers or trees in the yard, it was seeded to blue grass and clover, and there were several nice large shade trees just outside the fence around the yard, which furnished nice shade.

"Everything in the schoolroom represented neatness. The walls were clean, the windows and seats were clean, and the organ showed signs of good care. Under the room was a good basement where coal was kept. In short, everything about the school house and yard was beautiful and inviting. And I was quick to observe that the school house and yard were very unlike ours. Our schoolhouse is a big old style room with four rows of double seats. There is no fence, no trees, no flowers, no grass, no hitch posts, nothing attractive. When I pass it during vacation weeks the yard reminds me of a temporarily deserted horse lot.

"I think the farm children deserve the very best schoolhouse that can be constructed. It should be built as though it were to be inhabited by human beings from morning until evening; hence it should be built somewhat like a dwelling house with the exception of bedrooms. The interior furnishings should be ample and modern in every way. The school yard, like the schoolroom, should be planned very much like the home yard, for it is intended for children and should be planted to trees, flowers and grass; also cement walks, with plenty of space for a playground, and the school ground should be neatly fenced.

"And after we get the modern schoolhouse and neat and trim surroundings it requires the willing heart and hands of the teacher, pupils and parents to make the school house and grounds homelike and the most attractive meeting place in the district. The modern school room and grounds create in the children a better desire to go to school and stimulate in them a real love for country life and a realization of its possibilities; also teach them all how to live cleanly in a modern house and to care for flowers and trees. A beautiful, sanitary school building and yard have a telling effect on the children who attend there. They give them a high idea of farm life, refined feelings, a desire to build up instead of to tear down, and what they learn and observe there are used as stepping stones to make their trend upward in after life. So let each rural school district work for a modern school house and yard, for the best is none too good for country children."

WHERE'S THE RIGHT JONES?

Mr. J. P. Lukens of Verdugo road had a call the other day from a rancher living several miles up the valley, who wanted to take away some nursery stock which he had bought. The law requires that citrus trees must be inspected before removed and the telephone was used to get in touch with the horticultural commissioner in Los Angeles. This office could not send an inspector out but thought that there was one at Mr. Rice's nursery in Tropico. It developed, however, that he had just left there. The horticultural commissioner's office was called up again. This time they remembered that a Mr. Jones was inspector for Glendale and suggested getting in touch with him. The Jones family representatives were communicated with by telephone and otherwise numerously, but none were the right Mr. Jones. It was finally discovered that Inspector Jones who works Glendale, Tropico and vicinity, does not reside here but at Highland Park, Garvanza or elsewhere, and so he was not attainable. The rancher went home without his trees. Mr. Lukens (who was a Quaker back in Pennsylvania once) went beyond his wife's hearing and said things, and the unsuccessful search for the right Jones was dropped for the time being!

By the way, does anybody in this vicinity know a San Jose scale from one of Fairbank's latest improved? If so he ought to be able to get a job as tree inspector for this valley.

The social department of the Methodist Epworth league will meet at the home of Mrs. Marple on Park and Brand, this evening, to arrange for a social to be given soon by the league.

John Gabrielson of Los Angeles, a student of U. S. C., was a guest of Rev. W. C. Botkin at the Methodist parsonage last Sunday. In the evening Mrs. Gabrielsen lead the Epworth league meeting.

Mrs. D. H. Imler, who has been passing several months on the Imler ranch at Imperial, returned to her home on Park avenue Wednesday. Mr. Imler will arrive in Tropico in time to enjoy the Christmas holidays with his family.

The funeral of C. D. Winebrenner, who died in a hospital in Los Angeles Tuesday evening of last week, took place at the Winebrenner home on Park avenue Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The service was in charge of Rev. J. H. Henry and interment was made in Forest Lawn cemetery.

W. G. Black, who recently bought a place on Park avenue near Central, is having the place improved. The trees at the front have been cut down and the place is being generally beautified. It is understood that he will erect a modern home on the vacant lot in the near future.

There is considerable discussing at Tropico in the proposition of organizing of a Knights of Pythias lodge here This organization will be independent of the order already established in Glendale, and will be here to take care of the growing Tropico. The chief workers for this new lodge are W. J. Hibbert, F. H. Davis, Don Erskine, E F. Bettin and C. E. Shuey.

A donation of 75 boxes has been made by Bullocks department store in Los Angeles to the philanthropic committee of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club of which Mrs. L. C. Rice is chairman. The donation was made through Miss Cora Hickman and will be given to the Kings' Daughters' Day nursery in Los Angeles. A like contribution was made by this department store last year.

Miss Alta Stone, Miss Eula Richardson and Miss Lillian Ellias will return home next Tuesday from Stanford to pass the Christmas holidays with their parents. Miss Stone who has finished her post-graduate course, will not return to the northern university. Miss Richardson will return to conclude her postgraduate course, while Miss Ellias, who is a Freshman, will return about the first to resume her studies.

Miss Mabel Johnson of Davenport, Iowa, who is passing the winter in Tropico, has accepted a position at the Bungalow Studio and will assist Manager Weston in taking care of the holiday trade which is coming in thick and fast. The only thing that troubles Ed now is that there isn't 96 hours in each day. He's the busiest man in the valley today—barring the reporter, of course.

The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year at a meeting of the Sunday school board of the Methodist church last Friday evening: Superintendent, Rev. Henry Goodsell; assistant superintendent, Robert Taylor; secretary, Mrs. Lucreta Seal; treasurer, A. L. Chandler; organist, Miss Nina Claver; superintendent of the primary and cradle roll, Mrs. James H. Hutt; superintendent of home department, Mrs. A. R. Scofield.

Improvement work on Central avenue at this place has already commenced. Tuesday evening operations were started by the digging up of the middle of the street between Park and Tropico avenues. It is understood that work of laying the rock will start at a point where the work was discontinued at the junction of Central and San Fernando road and continue north. The work will be hurried through as fast as possible.

At the bazaar given in the G. A. R. hall on Glendale avenue last week, the ladies of the W. R. C. cleared over $285. This amount is more than sufficient to pay off all of the debt standing against the hall because of the numerous improvements made some time ago. The ladies are jubilant. They wish to express their heartfelt thanks to all of the contributors of fancy and useful articles and also to those who attended and made the affair such a grand success.

A community dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bullis on Central avenue Wednesday evening complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Peters of the East who are wintering in Los Angeles. The home was prettily decorated with roses and greenery. The invited guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, Misses Catherine and Dorothy Hobbs; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webster, Misses Lola and Iola Webster; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stevenson, Dwight Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Logan, Miss Mary Logan; Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballentyne, Miss Ethel and Master Paul Ballentyne, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport, Miss Blanche and Allen Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deal, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Stine.

The dance which was given by a committee of Tropico ladies in Logan's hall last Friday evening was in every way a decided success. The affair was unusually well attended. The hall was decorated with crepe paper and seasonable flowers. The following ladies had charge: Mrs. W. H. Bullis, Mrs. Andrew Stevenson, Mrs. J. H. Webster, Mrs. A. O. Conrad, Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. H. H. Davenport, Mrs. Frank Ballentyne.

Quite a number of residents of this place attended the formal opening of the Tropico Drug Company's store on San Fernando road last Saturday evening. An orchestra consisting of local and Los Angeles talent was in attendance and dispensed music throughout the evening. The children as well as the grown-ups enjoyed the soda water and ice cream which was freely distributed by Manager Carsensten.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the friends who were so kind to us in our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father.

WEST GLENDALE

Two more new cottages are being started on Oak street near Pacific.

Mrs. J. S. Stine has been confined to her bed for the past ten days.

Mrs. Chas. Brockman of 510 Coronado street, Los Angeles, was the guest of Mr. J. O. Elliott on Wednesday last.

Miss Huldah Erickson, one of the teachers of the school, will spend her Christmas vacation with her parents in Fresno, Cal.

Mrs. Warren Story who has been under the case of Dr. E. H. Thompson for the past few months, is reported as improving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clay and little son Harold, spent a few days in Los Angeles the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ethel Haynes.

Chase Story has been absent from school for some time. The young man has been laid up with a case of the latest style of la Grippe, but is improving.

"California for Mine," is rather out of date for a musical, but it certainly does sound good to Frank Booth since he came back from the East. Mr. Booth wants it understood that he is back in Glendale to stay.

Mr. Heebing, who conducted a grocery store on Vine and Pacific streets, has sold his property and will immediately commence the construction of a home, corner of Remington and Salem streets.

O, you turkey! That is the sing Mr. Allen Bullis has been singing ever since he came from the "Show" on Tuesday night. Allan was the lucky winner, holding the ticket that called for one of the finest turkeys in town.

Our girls of the basketball team of the West Glendale school came out the winners in a game with the girls of the Fourth street school last week. The team was presented with a fine box of candy by Deputy Marshal J. W. Everett, father of the captain, Miss Gladys Everett.

Christmas is certainly not far away even though the thermometer is rather elevated. Old Santa's wagons were seen in Glendale today loaded to the guards with everything that could delight the eye of a child, and O, some of those big bulky packages looked good enough for a "grown-up."

I wonder why it is that at this certain time of the year the roll call of all the Sunday schools is answered by such a number of children, so many more than in the summer time? They don't seem to mind the weather at this time, be it so hot it would blister them, or so cold it would freeze their ears and noses, and, my! they are perfectly willing to go to Sunday school and sit up like a little man, and not say a word. Perhaps the Sunday school teachers will be able to answer this question.

When your friends in the East receive the copy of the NEWS that you are going to send them on Jan. 1, 1911, and the cold chills are chasing themselves up and down their spinal column, and they are obliged to dance the Highland Fling on top of the stove in order to keep from freezing, it will no doubt call to their minds the old familiar song.

"Would I were with thee.
Every day and hour."

Any one wishing to learn the art of wheeling one of the latest style collapsable go-carts scientifically, will please call upon Mr. Warren Story. He was seen one balmy afternoon last week trundling one of the cutest little bunches of humanity in Glendale and the manner in which he handled the perambulator would put many a trained nurse to shame. There is nothing like understanding your "calling," no matter in what line it seems to lie. Bro. Story hasn't "hung out his shingle," but any one can direct you—you can't miss him.

On Saturday last as Dr. E. H. Thompson of Burbank, who was passing along the Fernando road, his attention was called to a man lying by the road, apparently wounded. On alighting from his auto and approaching the man, the doctor was told he had fallen from the train a short time before. After his many wounds were dressed, he was taken by the doctor in his auto to the county hospital in Los Angeles. It was here found that the man had not fallen from the train as he claimed but was a convict who had tried to escape by jumping from the lavatory window. The fellow was then turned over to the sheriff.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES AT WEST GLENDALE SCHOOL.

Very pleasing were the exercises that were held Friday afternoon. Outside of the seventh and eighth grades, who were invited to the high school, a joint program was given by all other grades, consisting chiefly of excellent musical numbers, recitations, etc. In place of the regulation Christmas tree, laden with candy, nuts, etc., for the scholars, something out of the osdinary was given. This was a large manger in which each scholar contributed something, a book or gift of some kind, clothing, etc., which was given over to the Parent-Teachers' Association, and then in turn, handed to the poor people of the city. The children were more than generous, and what was still better, showed an unusual amount of cheerfulness in giving, and many a little heart will be gladdened by the toys and books, and different articles will be distributed about among the many families who would otherwise be too poor to have Santa call at their house, even with the very simplest of things.

After the Christmas holidays, a new teacher will be added to the school, who will have charge of the Sixth and part of the Seventh grades. Mrs. Remsburg comes highly recommended, and together with her little daughter and mother, will make her home in West Glendale.

COURT NEWS!

The trial of Sol Rehart held for attempted bribery has just been brought to a close in the Senior history class of the high school. The case was most ably prosecuted by Dwight Stephenson, district attorney.

The defendant was charged with attempting to bribe on November 7th, the day of the high school election, and was indicted by a grand jury composed of members of the history class. Defendant was then represented by Owen Emery in a jury trial before Judge Howe. Witnesses were subpoened from the other classes, and from the faculty, and examined and cross-examined.

The prosecution based its case entirely on the testimony of witnesses. The defense was based on the technical point that a bribe was promised not actually offered. After all the testimony was in Prosecuting Attorney Stephenson presented to the jury a clear, concise summary of all evidence rendered. The attorney for the defense, Mr. Emery, then made a touching appeal for the accused, painting his future if imprisoned and if released.

The jury was out about ten minutes and returned a verdict of guilty, through their spokesman, Fay Stone. The prisoner was then given a chance to speak, but professed to be unable to speak English. The judge then said that owing to the attitude of the prisoner the court deemed probation unwarranted and would take the matter under advisement. Mr. Rehart was then returned to jail and is now awaiting the further action of the court, in the custody of the sheriff, Pearl Goode.

EASTERN STAR RECEPTION.

Forty invitations were issued to the husbands, wives and sweethearts of the officers of Glen Eyrie chapter, Eastern Star, to meet at the handsome new home of Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery on Kenwood street last Friday evening. The majority of the invitations were answered in person by the recipients who congregated in the beautifully decorated rooms. The drawing room had been converted into a bower of pink roses, while the living room in pink sweet peas and the dining room in pale pink carnations aided in furthering the color scheme. Progressive games occupied the major part of the evening. Mrs. John Hunchberger and Mrs. Frank Albright tied in the story telling contest and were forced out for the prize which was eventually captured by Mrs. Hunchberger.

Refreshments characteristic of Eastern Star were served by Owen and Wanita Emery, one feature of which was sherbet ices formed in stars, each point one of the symbolical colors, violet, yellow, white, green and red.

The close of the evening was musical, consisting of both vocal and instrumental numbers.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION AT BURBANK.

A fellow giving his name as B. D Thompson was arrested Wednesday morning on a train going toward Los Angeles, on suspicion, it being believed that he is working anything but a straight game for a living. In the fellow's pockets a number of safe-cracking and other implements of the burglar trade were found. Justice Melrose gave him ten days in the county jail, believing that upon investigation it will be found that his presence is greatly needed to straighten out a number of Sunday school socials or pink tea affairs. Charlie Catlin made the arrest. It's a sure thing that if anyone engaged in a bunco game is going to pass through Burbank without being "pinched" by Catlin, he'll have to be wearing a pair of double "specks."

CORRECTION.

In last week's account of the meeting of the Fourth Street School Parent-Teachers Association, the credit for the music furnished should have been given to the boys of both the seventh and eighth grades, and not to the eighth grade alone, as it was made to appear.

WANTS TO BE J. P. ALSO.

Recorder Whomes who is a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, discovered after the primary election that he was the Democratic candidate for justice of the peace by reason of his having received a few scattering votes for the nomination. Now he makes the further discovery that under existing circumstances, this district may have two justices and he demands a writ of mandate to compel the supervisors to declare him elected to help Justice Melrose distribute justice and divide the spoils of office. At the election on Nov. 8th, Judge Melrose received 1293 votes and Judge Whomes 404.

The State Creamery Association held in Los Angeles last week, went to Casa Verdugo one day during their session and enjoyed a banquet in that famous resort. 215 plates being set for the company, which is the largest crowd that has visited the caravanserie under the present management.
